

THE HUB

of 1942

Thou, too, sail on, O Henrietta!
Sail on, O Henrietta, strong and great!
Humanity, with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!
We know what leader laid thy keel,
What workman wrought thy frame of steel,
What anvils rang, what hammers beat,
Where shaped the anchors of thy hope!
In spite of false lights on the shore,
Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea!
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee—are all with thee!

WE SALUTE !

To Corporal Charles W. Covault, we do, the class of 1942, respectfully dedicate our annual.

VICTORY

What is victory? The writer, in an attempt to define the term, carried on a brief survey in this community. The results are interesting.

A school teacher of years' standing said, "Victory is self control,—complete self mastery."

A business man said, "Victory is the achievement of an important objective in the face of resistance."

A housewife had this to say: "Victory is the accomplishment of a desired aim in the face of obstacles."

A farmer put it a little differently: "If we win this war and have to fight another in twenty years that will not be victory."

A father of five sons quite naturally thought of it in terms of war: "Real victory would be the settlement of a dispute in which all parties benefit."

It is interesting to note that the "conquering-hero-applauded-through-triumph" type did not occur to these people at all. All agree that victory often occurred where it was least evident that—the vanquished many time turned out to be the victor.

Washington, kneeling at Valley Forge, must have felt far removed from a conqueror.

Lincoln at Gettysburg heard no wildly cheering throngs.

The people of Norway can scarcely be called vanquished.

How does a person achieve victory in these hours of uncertainty? The apostle Paul never heard of blitzkriegs, yet he knew a great deal about victory. His words centuries ago still challenge us: "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit ye like men, be strong."

How does a nation achieve it? The very same way. MH

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In September 1938, nineteen bright-eyed boys and girls bounded into school to begin their first year of high school life. We soon called a meeting to choose our officers. Jeanne Snyder became the leader of our gang with Jean Currier as the vice president; Jim Slack kept the secretary's books and Shirley Unger, the treasurer's. The rest of our class consisted of the following illustrious members: Jim Currier, Leland Kinsley, Lewis Pete, Martin Groh, George Kesessi, Joe Currier, James Unger, Tom Williams, George Webber, Bernard Rennert, Anna Maston, Virginia Dorow, Esther Emmerick, Elsie Hostetler and Nancy Andress. After greeting our teachers, Miss Catlin, Mr. Boyle, Mrs. Gannett, and Mr. Slack, we took up our subjects with zest but with a slight interruption by the Sophomores who came along to do their worst by way of an initiation. The ordeal of fun, torment, and merriment was survived by all with very little after-effect. We gave our share of members to all of the school activities and clubs. Soon our year's work was finished but we found that we had lost two members: Martin Groh and Joe Currier.

Seventeen students came back in the fall of '39 all ready to begin the Sophomore year. George Rottari from Lorain joined us later to increase our number to 18. We were greeted by a new coach, Mr. Falace, while the smiling faces of Mr. Slack, Miss Catlin, and Mrs. Gannett greeted us again. We elected officers and George Webber took over the presidency with Jeanne Snyder his assistant, while Jean Currier fulfilled the office of secretary and treasurer. We initiated the freshmen in grand style and began diligently our work which was interrupted with plans for a minstrel that we enjoyed helping to give. When we returned from Christmas vacation we had lost George Rottari as the result of a fatal accident and Jim Unger had left us to seek his fortune. Soon Betty Emery rejoined us from Birmingham and we completed the year in happy anticipation of the next.

In 1940 George Webber was again elected leader of our band of eighteen Juniors while Jeanne Snyder filled the vice-presidency, Shirley Unger was secretary and Bernard Rennert was treasurer. We found we had another new coach, Mr. Covault, and another commercial teacher, Miss Yeiter. Mr. Slack, and Miss Catlin, who was soon to become Mrs. Johannsen still graced our class rooms. We took over the candy business as well as a new venture, the school store, to earn money. Besides these we gave the Junior play entitled "June in January," the preparation of which was enjoyed as was also the presentation of this our Junior masterpiece. Time ushered in events rapidly, giving us little rest, and soon we were planning our Junior-Senior banquet. We took our upper-classmen to the Lorain Country Club on April 26. After the dinner we saw a movie in Oberlin. Three members left us: George Keressi, Anna Maston, and Bernard Rennert; but David Gerstacker came from Rocky River to join us. We were very glad to close the year with a surplus in the treasury, a host of memories, and many hopes for the future.

As the ever expected Senior year arrived our members were aquiver with excitement and plans. This year three new faces greeted us: Mr. Hartman, Miss Conard and Mrs. Johnston. Of all the teachers from last year only Mr. Slack remained. We chose George Webber as our leader again, Tom Williams, vice president, Jean Currier was secretary and Elsie Hostetler, treasurer. In March we began work on our play, "Bolts and Nuts," which was given May 1 and 2. On May 9 the Juniors gave us a banquet at the Hi-O-Hi Tea Rooms which we all enjoyed and for which we thanked them very much. For our class trip, because of the national emergency, we did not go to Washington but went to Detroit and Greenfield Village. This event will be remembered by all of us. We chose for our class colors brown and yellow and the yellow rose was our flower. Our motto was "On to Victory!" The baccalaureate service was held at the Methodist Church on May 17. Reverend Riggs gave the address. On May 20 we officially ended our high school life and entered into the malestrom of life with earnestness and determination.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

We, of the Senior Class of Henrietta High School, being of sane mind, of sound body, and bouyant spirits, do hereby give this our last will and testament:

I, Betty Emery, bequeathe my figure to Margaret Greszler, my giggle to Lois Petty, and my finger nails to Ruth Webber.

I, Lee Kinsley, will my foul shooting ability to Stanley Pwinski, my ability to get kicked out of school and class to Elmer Junior Portmann, and my whiskers to Alex Kristy.

I, Elsie Hostetler, give my wit to Melvin Sayers, my treasurer jobs to Loretta Gerber, and my diet to Ruth Dute.

I, George Webber, will my A's in American History to Bernard Buchs, my basketball score book to Margaret Creszler, and my 'cello to Richard Lamvermeyer.

I, Jeanne Snyder, donate my hiccups to Warren Bauman, my ability to hold my temper to Elmer Junior Portman, and my natural love for argument to Eunice Jones, providing she is always on the right side.

I, Jim Slack, will my temper to Hubert Bates, my love of baseball to Melvin Sayers, and my running ability to Gordon Wilford.

I, Nancy Andress, bequeathe my p'lumpness to Dolores Sapienza, my helpfulness to Opal Krieg, and my class ring to Elmer Junior Portmann, to give to his elder brother.

I, Lewis Pete, give my straight black hair to Fritz Knoble, my neckties to Melvin Sayers, and my baseball ability to Elmer Junior Portmann.

I, Esther Emmerich, donate my slimness to Ruth Dute, my coiffure to Florence Yenick, and my good behavior to Jim Buchs.

I, Jim Currier, will my straight, slick hair to Eddie Gronskey, and my art of chewing gum in Sociology class to anyone who can get away with it. (Although he didn't fool the teacher as much as he thought he did.)

I, Shirley Unger, bequeathe my cheerleading suit to Mike Gronskey, my Junior and Sophomore boy friends to Opal Krieg, and my interest in all sports to Ruth Leimbach.

I, Dave Gerstacker, wiil my precious study habits and shaving ability to Melvin Sayers.

I, Jean Currier, donate my cheerleading suit to Gordon Wilford with the understanding that he work with Mike Gronskey, and my hair ribbons to Allen Kendeigh.

I, Tom Williams, give my Spartian physique to Hubert Bates, my rolling baritone voice to Gordon Wilford, and my slide trombone to Dolores Sapienza.

We, the Senior Class, also bequeathe our Chemistry workbooks to the next struggling class, and our home room behavior and orderly conduct of class meetings during our four years in high school to the incoming Freshmen.

In witness whereof we hereunto set our hands this tenth day of April in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and forty-two.

IT HATH BEEN PROPHESED

T'was on the morn of June 4, 1962, that the memorable occasion occurred. In answer to a knock on our door, I admitted a stranger who unrevelled a preposterous tale as we talked. As the man talked on I noticed something vaguely familiar about him, especially his hair. Oh, the hair! those waves! I knew that those beautiful waves could not belong to anyone but David Gerstacker. It was not long before we began to reminisce—the good old days—essays in American Literature class, etc. Since graduation Dave had entered the automobile sales business—yes, cars and rubber tires had been restored to the market—and was now trying to sell the public on the autogyro machine, which he believed would revolutionize transportation. Incidentally he wanted us to represent the public in a test showing how economical the “Zing,” as he called it, could be. The mechanics of that complicated looking machine, Dave explained, were very simple. Improvements in every line were shown over the models of vehicles of 1942. The most outstanding feature of the “zing” was its ability to fly swiftly through the air, land on a highway, and travel as a car. Besides these advantages the “zing” can be parked in a very small space. Flat buildings were built in the heart of many cities for parking these new contrivances. In the test the company was to pay all expenses for a month's travel in the “zing.” We, my husband and I were to make the test, could travel anywhere we desired. Who could resist such temptation? Well, we could not and forthwith placed our children in adequate care, bade farewell to Dave whom we would see again in a month, and took off the following morning.

It was high noon when we reached our first stop, New York; our first impulse was to obey the gastronomic call of our stomachs. Since all expenses were to be paid by the company, why not dine at a prominent restaurant? This we did. When a waitress came toward our table I was amazed to see that it was none other than Betty Emery, that shy, demure lass who graduated with the '42 H. H. S. class. Betty sat right down and dined with us; this act caused no repercussions from the management because she owned the controlling interest in the restaurant, though she still liked to wait on tables in her spare time. After we had devoured the tasty morsels and bade adieu to Betty, we started for Central Park.

After we had gone about two blocks, a gust of wind blew my hat helter-skelter and right through an open window into a large building. Well, no woman is going to let a good hat get away like that, so off I took after it. Upon reaching the building, faint strains of fine music could be heard and after following the sound I entered into a large auditorium where on the stage a large symphony orchestra was rehearsing. As I stood there gazing I recognized George Webber, as the director! When there came a break in the music I cried “Oh, Joy!” George turned and greeted me with a big smile and then dismissed the orchestra. He was glad to see me and wanted to know what I was doing and how I was. He told me of the road he traveled—music conservatory after music conservatory and finally this, his life's dream. I complimented George on his grand work and left him to rejoin my husband—forgetting my hat after all.

We had seen enough of New York for now and so we proceeded in the direction of Cleveland where I wanted to visit the Palace Theatre. We arrived without mishap and parked the “zing” in an elevated garage. We attempted to cross one of the main thoroughfares of the metropolis and—At this point my story will have to pause for the next thing I remembered was seeing a nurse standing at my bedside. Astonished, I opened my eyes wide (and who wouldn't) for there taking my pulse was my dear old pal of school days, Elsie Hostetler.

Little did I know that I would be taken to the hospital where she was employed. We had much time to gossip since I was confined to the hospital for five more days. On the third day a lawyer came to straighten out the insurance. Who should he prove to be but James Slack, that lad of the clear ringing voice who was always chosen to read in American literature class! I knew Jim had wanted to be a lawyer but it greatly surprised me to realize that now he was working on a case for me. I almost had a relapse when he called his secretary in, for she was Esther Emmerich, but really as much should have been expected; Esther was such a whiz in her commercial classes in high school. There were now four of us '42 graduates together so we really had a good time remembering the many problems we used to have.

After being released from the hospital we again took up our travels in the “zing.” This time our course was straight west. When we reached the border of Iowa we glided onto the highway and motored for a while. All along the highway were billboard signs reading “Milk Stand Ahead.” Upon reaching this much advertised establishment we stopped and ordered a glass of milk. On the glass was a great deal of advertising, and I noticed the name, “Thomas Williams, proprietor.” Of all people, Tom, way out here. I inquired as to where Tom was and sought him out. I soon found him gently petting one of his 78 goats. He jubilantly told us of his goat ranch and the way he was trying to popularize the milk of the lowly goat. I wished Tom all the success in the world and resumed our course.

Our next stop was to be California but our plans were disrupted for somewhere in Wyoming we saw a red glow in the distance and upon reaching the scene we found it was a forest fire. We stopped and inquired as to the cause of this catastrophe. The man I accosted was tall, lean, and had black shiny hair; the fire started, he thought, by a cigarette. Some people would never learn! The fire-fighters were trying some new gadget which was expected to put out fire in a shorter time. My curiosity was aroused so I asked who had invented this instrument and he modestly replied it was invented by someone by the name of Lewis Pete. I exclaimed, “Why that's you!” “Yes,” he answered, “I have been out west since 1950. Sure is grand country and if this invention works, I will stay here permanently.” Well, Lewis' invention worked and the fire was out in no time. Lewis accompanied us back to the “zing” but before we reached it a loud, shrill feminine voice was heard. When its owner approached she said, “Why Jeannie, don't you remember the Christmas seal accounting?” I immediately knew her to be Nancy Andress. But what was she doing out here? Funny. I had always thought Nancy would be a local gal. She was now connected with a traveling bureau and the fire had attracted her attention so she came over to see the spectacle. What a coincidence that we three should meet way out here. Nancy consented to show us around Wyoming and so we spent a whole week enjoying ourselves to the fullest—riding around and sightseeing in the “zing.” When our week was up we reluctantly left Nancy and Lewis and once again headed toward California.

As we reached Salt Lake City, night was falling and so we stopped and entered a fine resort hotel and prepared to make reservations for the night. To our surprise who was standing behind the desk but Jim Carrier! Our class had surely scattered far and wide. Jim told us how he and Leland Kinsley had formed a partnership, had come out west and now owned, jointly, a 2,000 acre ranch plus several stores and this hotel. Jim supplied the brains in the partnership while Leland gave the brawn. It worked beautifully. Through Jimmy's great generosity we received the best

During Our Year . . . —

JUNIORS

President—Mary Linden

Vice President—Bernard Buchs

Secretary and Treasurer—Lois Petty

On September 2, 1941, came the usual call for another year in school. The junior class returned with eleven boys and girls.

We were all excited because we knew our turn had come to take care of the store, to sell candy at basketball games, to put on a junior class play and to give a banquet for the seniors. We did all this with great success.

On November 14, 1941 we gave our play, entitled "Whittlin'."

The months flew by one by one and we began preparation for our banquet, which was held on May 15 at the High-O-High Tea Room in Oberlin. After the dinner we further entertained the seniors with a movie which was enjoyed by everyone.

We all hope to be back here next year to occupy room ten as seniors.

SOPHOMORES

President—Lenore Buchs

Vice President—Alex Kristy

Secretary—Ruth Webber

Treasurer—Eleanor Sanders

Our class started out the year with eight members, but in the early part of November, Leonard Sapienza, from Lorain, joined us, increasing our group to nine members.

On September 26, 1941, we sponsored a party at which the freshmen and new teachers were initiated. This affair was a great success and was enjoyed by everyone including even the initiates.

We have been in charge of three assembly programs during the school year.

We hope that '42 and '43 will be as pleasant and interesting as this past year.

FRESHMEN

President—Lawrence Bauman

Vice president—Francis Knoble

Secretary and Treasurer—Opal Krieg

Thirteen new students were initiated into high school on September 26, 1941. Lawrence Linden from Oberlin, and Dolores Sapienza from Lorain are the new members our class received this past year.

We all enjoyed having Mr. Hartman for our class advisor, and we're very sorry to hear that he had to leave for the army as soon as school closed.

Our class is looking forward to initiating the freshman of next year, and we sincerely hope they will enjoy high school life as much as we have this past year.

SEVENTH and EIGHTH GRADE

As the curtain is pulled down for the year of 1941-1942, many of us will have happy memories of the past year. "Carry On" has been our motto, "Success" has been our goal, and we have attained these through our co-operation with one another.

Many of us have participated in the Junior and Senior orchestras, Band, Boys Glee Club and Mixed Chorus.

During the year we had many social activities. Our Halloween party at Betty Lou Slack's, the Christmas party at Shirley Dellifield's, and the Valentine party at the school were the outstanding events.

As the bell tolled its last on May 22, we, happy at the thought of vacation, began to look forward to our next year when we would greet our old friends and make new acquaintances.

FIFTH and SIXTH GRADE

On the first day of the school year of 1941 and 1942 twenty-six boys and girls eagerly went into the fifth and sixth grade room, happily anticipating the year ahead of them.

All took part in several activities: the devotionals for December P. T. A., the Christmas program, and a patriotic chapel program in February.

Barbara Griffin from East Carlisle School entered our fifth grade in December.

Willard Starkey, Raymond Smith, Corrine Husted, Mary Ann Starkey, Carolyn Schlechter and Marie Perkins represented our room in the Junior Orchestra.

Eleanor Emery, Corrine Husted and May Maston had perfect attendance for the year.

By the co-operation and effort of all it has been a very happy and profitable year.

THIRD and FOURTH GRADE

We of the third and fourth grades feel that we have had a very successful year. We have worked hard and some of us have made "A's" on our report cards every six weeks. Some of our "A" students are: Bonnie Daniels, Joan Slack, Dorothy Howe, Louise Smith, Lucille Gronsky, and Lois Kothe. The girls have carried the scholastic honors this year.

As usual, we built our Indian tepee and drew several friezes on subjects which we studied in geography.

Our social side was not neglected. We were entertained with a party on Halloween, Christmas, Valentine's Day and Easter. Our mothers joined some of these parties for which we were happy.

Donald Linden came to our school this year from Oberlin. We hope he will be with us for a long time.

Next year we are looking forward to our new teachers and new work.

FIRST and SECOND GRADE

As school opened in September, a new teacher, Mrs. Mahan, greeted the group. There were seven pupils entering for the first time and ten pupils in the second grade. As the year progressed we lost one second grader and added another—Deloris Coen. We also added two pupils, Kenneth and Allen Pete to our first grade.

Art and writing projects have been correlated with our reading and health. The second grade made health booklets, and both groups learned several health poems.

Parties were held in our room at the Halloween, Christmas, Valentine and Easter seasons. Credit for much of the success for these parties goes to the mothers of the pupils.

We were also responsible for a short devotional program for the April Parent-Teacher meeting and a chapel exercise in May.

We are proud of the pupils who have been on our Honor Roll all year. They are Rachel Howe and Marcella Horvath in the first grade and Lavonne Swiers, Ann Johnson, David Howe and Nancy Currier in the second.

Chemistry

At the beginning of the year, there assembled in the laboratory, eleven bewildered boys and girls eager for an unveiling of the mysteries of their environment—those things which they had always tasted, touched, seen and felt but had never quite understood.

As the year passed swiftly on, they learned formulas and equivalents and the structure of the atom and many new and exciting things.

They enjoyed the class and hoped that the rest of the school did not despise the very queer odors exuding from the lab.

Industrial Arts

A group of ten boys made up the Industrial Arts class this year.

The first six weeks were spent on a course in blue print work.

Many of the projects of the year consisted of objects built for different programs and activities carried out by the school and its organizations.

We also made lamps, foot stools, and table and book case combinations.

Home Economics

Our class of seven members undertook several interesting projects during the year.

We prepared and gave a valentine dinner to which the high school teachers were invited.

At the athletic banquet we made favors and served.

The beginning of the year was spent at sewing. We made different things to wear. During the rest of the year, in learning to cook. We mixed and baked many kinds of cookies, biscuits, cakes, pies and salads.

Two scrap books were completed, one on child development, the other on home furnishings.

Commercial

In spite of the fact that a great number of other students found amusement in our odd symbols used to represent longhand characters, we shorthand students have enjoyed learning an entirely new language. After being oriented in some of the different principles, we undertook to gain greater speed in dictation and transcription.

In typing classes we have been working all year for speed and accuracy. Much of our knowledge was put to practical use when we assisted the Hub staff in putting out the school paper every month and when we very willingly assisted in getting out much of the office material.

The classes are proud to report that if anyone desires a good stenographer or typist he might look much farther and find no better area for a selection than that of the classes of H. H. S.

BASKETBALL

About the middle of October, twenty-one bright-eyed youths were found lined up in the gym with the idea in mind of carrying on to the best of their ability the great tradition of basketball which has become established during the past decade.

When the last whistle had blown during the regular season, it was found that Henrietta had won 12 and lost 6 games.

At the tournament in the first game we played a favored Wellington team and upset them 27 to 19. In our second game we were defeated by Belden after a tough fight in which first one team and then the other led. A contributing factor to this defeat was the loss of Alex Kristy due to an injury to his eye.

The boys did not feel so bad about losing the game when it came time to give the trophies away because they were presented with a sportsmanship trophy for their good conduct and sportsmanship attitude on the floor throughout the year.

Baseball

When the first practice was called there were approximately fifteen boys out working for a position. They had a new coach and were determined to help get him off to a good start in his coaching career. In keeping with this the boys also made a good start by tying Brighton. After this they went on to win four games and lose one.

The battery for the season was Alex Kristy, pitching and Jim Slack, catching. In the spring Allen Kendeigh was back and took over the latter position.

This last spring due to the overtime work of Pluvius, the god of rain, the team's work was restricted to a couple of games.

Letter Club

President—Leland Kinsley

Vice President—Bernard Buchs

Secretary and Treasurer—Allen Kendeigh

The club is composed of boys who have received their letter in basketball.

The boys acted as captains of some of the teams in volley ball, basketball and others of the noon hour activity program, and assisted Mr. Hartman generally with this program.

The Letter Club was the first of its kind to be organized in our school and the boys hope they have established a precedent for the benefit and enjoyment of Henrietta's future athletes.

Cafeteria

In the fall of 1941 we started our fourth year of serving lunches in the cafeteria.

Mrs. Hopkins, assisted by Betty Emery, managed the work of putting out delicious hot food.

This year we have received surplus foods from the government agency in Elyria, and thus were able to serve the lunches at a reduced price—the main dish and dessert at five cents and the milk at four cents, the cost price.

The P. T. A. and the Board of Education purchased the new dishes and silverware.

About one hundred lunches were served each day.

PROPHECY

suite in the hotel and rested comfortably.

The following morning we got an early start and flew straight to Oakland, California. Something concerning that city was vaguely familiar when suddenly I remembered that it was to Oakland that Jean Currier went soon after graduation. I wondered if she still lived there so I dug into my aged address book but it proved to be of no avail. Regardless of my disappointment we determined to enjoy the marvelous climate and to swim in the Pacific. We hastened to the ocean but other people must have had the same idea for the beach was literally packed. Just as our beach umbrella was comfortably placed, at last, some woman near us started to laugh. Nobody can forget Jean Currier's laugh once they've heard it so I knew it to be she. When I finally did find her and her large family we received another invitation to spend a few days with them at the ranch but since the month was rapidly drawing to a close we regretfully accepted for only one night. The evening was spent in discussing our children and how we had acted when we were kids. I told Jean of all the classmates I had seen, and asked her of the whereabouts of Shirley Unger, her chum in school.

Jean said that Shirley, since graduation, had married a doctor and was residing in the south where her husband was practising. From her letters Shirley seemed to be immensely happy and I knew she must be.

After thanking Jean for her most kind hospitality we decided to spend the last week in traveling homeward. As we started on our return a thought struck me! I wondered if our senior advisor, Mrs. Johnston, had yet recovered from the strenuous attempts she made in trying to teach us impossible '42 seniors. As this thought came to mind I decided then and there to return by way of Texas and to stop and see her. It was good to see and talk to her again and she said that she had fully recovered. Because we were in a hurry we had no time to accept any of the famous Texan hospitality so we said good-bye to Mrs. Johnston and hastened home.

We made a most commendable report to Dave and at once made a down payment on a "zing" for ourselves. Again the everyday routine of life was resumed and as I looked over the past month of vacation and meetings with my classmates I could not help marveling at the way in which each one of them had found a place in which they graduated.

Mixed Chorus

The name "chorus" means a company of singers and their song. The adjective "mixed" implies that the chorus is made up of both masculine and feminine voices.

As in the past few years, our group, composed of thirty-five members, a goodly number for a small school, was under the direction of Miss Marjorie Howe. A fine performance and a high rating at the contest were our aims.

March 28 found us on our way to Clearview for the Lorain County Band and Choral Contest to return with a rating of Superior which entitled us to go to Fremont to the District contest of April 11. At Fremont we received the rating Superior and so went to the State contest at Columbus on April 25.

The songs we sang are "Suomi's Song" by Pacius and Treharne and "Madame Jeanette" by Alan Murray.

Band

When the director of the band, Mr. Moore, brought his baton down to begin another year of diligent practice there were twenty-two members present, but this number was soon increased to thirty.

The first public appearance of the band was at the P. T. A. play when it played between acts;— thrilling experience because the band came out in uniforms of blue and white. It was the first time for any of the Henrietta organizations to have uniforms.

Practice for the contest numbers, "Komm Susser Tod" by Bach and "Golden Century Overture" by Lake, was started and as the weeks flew by it was soon time to present the band at Clearview, where the members received the rating of Superior which entitled them to go to the District contest. Each one threw in his best efforts for a second good performance entitling them to an Excellent rating and a journey on to the State contest at Columbus.

All these contests had taken the band to the last lap of the school year and when the disbanding time came for the summer, all members left with the gratifying feeling of having done satisfactory work.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

Middle row—Allen Kendeigh, Walter Currier, Lawrence Bauman, Gordon Wilford, Warren Bauman, Joe Maston.

Girls Glee Club

This group of nineteen girls together with their instructor Miss Marjorie Howe, started the year with the usual "pu-pu-pu" and deep breathing exercises.

Then when all voices were in shape they started on the contest numbers entitled "The Chestnut Tree" by Schumann and "Sister Awake" by Jacob. On March 28 they journeyed to Clearview to take part in the Lorain County Choral Contest, and to receive the rating of Excellent for their efforts.

The girls then disbanded Glee Club to turn all their efforts to the Mixed Chorus.

Boys Glee Club

When the Boys Glee Club assembled this year we found it to be the smallest group of boys in quite a number of years.

We did our work undaunted by this fact, however, and the weeks soon flew by until, on the morning of March 28, we journeyed to Clearview with our hearts and hopes high. We sang "Homeland" and "Tiritomba" in the contest and were rewarded for our hard work by receiving a rating of Superior.

Again we wish to thank Miss Howe for her efforts which contributed so much toward making our singing a success.

We all enjoyed our glee club work and hope for the success of next year's group.

SENIOR ORCHESTRA

Senior Orchestra

After the success enjoyed by the Senior Orchestra last year, the group reorganized this year with high hopes and plans, many of which hopes have been realized under the competent direction of Mr. Moore.

The organization has a membership of twenty-six. Despite the small number of members we have an almost complete instrumentation which adds greatly to our success.

At the annual Lorain County Band, Orchestra and Choral Contest held at Clearview High School on March 28 the ensemble received the rating of Superior on its two numbers, "Amaryllis" by Ghys and "At the Races, March" by Ellwood.

The orchestra made public appearances at the Christmas program, at the Spring Music Festival, and at Commencement.

Five members will be lost through graduation but we know the orchestra will continue with all of its former success.

Junior Orchestra

Although the Junior Orchestra did not organize before the middle of the year, we made up for the lack of time with hard work to make the school proud of us at the County Contest.

Bright and early on March 28 we were on our way to Clearview. The time passed rapidly and we were soon on the stage performing our required numbers.

The numbers that we played were, "A Choral," "In a Glider," and "Awake My Heart and Sing" for which we received a rating of Superior.

Mr. Moore was our director this past year and we wish to thank him for all he did to make our playing a success.

Camera Club

This past year a new club was formed under the able direction of Miss Snow.

The meeting place of the club was in a dark room in the basement—yes, you guessed it, the Camera Club!

The pictures they took with their cameras were developed in the solutions which they themselves had learned to prepare.

We wish to thank Miss Snow for all her efforts and for the loan of all the equipment which we used.

Dramatic Club

The Dramatic Club was organized in the early fall of 1941, with a membership of fifteen. Like the other organizations of Henrietta, we presented an assembly program, which was composed of several short skits.

We have had an enjoyable year and hope the following one is just as pleasant.

Journalism Club

Wrongly named the group that published the "Hub" each month was not a club; it had no definite membership or meeting time. The only binding tie of this group was the list of ninety people who expected to receive a copy of the school paper every four weeks. This dis-organized plan worked well this year, though, and we printed nine issues of the paper. We found among the many advantages of the plan that, all contributions were voluntary, which caused a variation in the size of the paper; but we feel that it has a good effect on the quality of the material.

Lois Petty served as editor this year and Jeanne Snyder, business manager. The co-operation of the faculty, especially Mr. Slack, has added much to the "Hub" the past year.

The P. T. A. an organization of 103 members has enjoyed a very successful year under the capable leadership of Mrs. Ada Berger and her various committees. During the year, they paid half the expenses of the school cafeteria, bought new drapes for the hall, and furnished uniforms for the school band. They also purchased two defense bonds.

To finance these projects, they gave a victory dance, a Halloween carnival, two paper sales, a silver tea and a play.

Among the speakers at the monthly meetings were Mrs. Arthur Rawson of LaGrange, President of the Lorain County Council, who gave a history of P. T. A. work at the Founders Day Program; Lt. Arthur Richwine of Elyria, who gave a very interesting talk on army life at the Armistice Day program; and Miss Dickey and Miss Koffky, members of the County Ensemble, who entertained with music. Mrs. Arthur Williams of Oberlin entertained at the silver tea with a lecture on the origin of American Folk Songs. A soloist accompanied her.

The various grades of the school, in turn, had charge of devotionals and refreshments at the monthly meetings.

PARENT TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

President, Ada Berger
1st Vice President, Mrs. C. H. Currier
2nd Vice President, Carl Bates

Secretary, Gladys Dodd
Treasurer, Lena Hopkins
Program Chairman,
Evelyn Lamvermeyer

The P. T. A. an organization of 103 members has enjoyed a very successful year under the capable leadership of Mrs. Ada Berger and her various committees. During the year, they paid half the expenses of the school cafeteria, bought new drapes for the hall, and furnished uniforms for the school band. They also purchased two defense bonds.

To finance these projects, they gave a victory dance, a Halloween carnival, two paper sales, a silver tea and a play.

Among the speakers at the monthly meetings were Mrs. Arthur Rawson of LaGrange, President of the Lorain County Council, who gave a history of P. T. A. work at the Founders Day Program; Lt. Arthur Richwine of Elyria, who gave a very interesting talk on army life at the Armistice Day program; and Miss Dickey and Miss Koffky, members of the County Ensemble, who entertained with music. Mrs. Arthur Williams of Oberlin entertained at the silver tea with a lecture on the origin of American Folk Songs. A soloist accompanied her.

The various grades of the school, in turn, had charge of devotionals and refreshments at the monthly meetings.
